

CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1: INTRODUCTION	1
CHAPTER 2: LITERATURE REVIEW	3
2.1 Introduction	3
2.2 Knowledge sharing	4
2.3 ICTs, intranets and knowledge sharing: main research themes	17
2.4 Determinants of the role of ICTs in knowledge sharing	19
2.5 Previous work on the role of the intranet in knowledge sharing: the research perspective	22
2.6 Accounting for the role of the intranet in knowledge sharing: pursuit of a theoretical framework	23
2.7 Themes and methods derived from the sociotechnical approach relevant to the research	28
2.8 Conclusion to Chapter 2	33
CHAPTER 3: METHODOLOGY	35
3.1 Introduction	35
3.2 Grounded theory, grounded explanation and case studies	35
3.3 The field work	40
3.4 Social analysis of the findings	50
3.5 Conclusion to Chapter 3	53
CHAPTER 4: FINDINGS FROM INTERVIEWS WITH DISTRIBUTED KNOWLEDGE MANAGEMENT STAFF	55
4.1 Introduction	55
4.2 Lines of work: the roles of distributed knowledge management staff related to the intranet and knowledge sharing	56
4.3 Going concerns: knowledge management, information management, UKnow and knowledge sharing	79
4.4 Conclusion to Chapter 4	117

CHAPTER 5: FINDINGS FROM THE REVIEW OF COMPANY DOCUMENTATION AND INTERVIEWS WITH KNOWLEDGE MANAGEMENT DIRECTORATE STAFF	119
5.1 Introduction	119
5.2 Background on knowledge management at KPMG UK	120
5.3 Plans for staffing to support the knowledge management implementation 1998-2001	122
5.4 Plans for the intranet implementation	127
5.5 Plans for knowledge sharing	131
5.6 Knowledge management in the business units: the role of the distributed knowledge management staff in practice	135
5.7 Intranet development in practice: evidence from the company documentation	144
5.8 Knowledge sharing in practice: evidence from the company documentation	157
5.9 Conclusion to Chapter 5: general observations on plans and practice of the knowledge management implementation 1995-2001	162
 CHAPTER 6: DISCUSSION	 167
6.1 Introduction	167
6.2 Episodes on the KPMG UK knowledge management implementation actor-network	168
6.3 Conclusions on the analysis of the knowledge management implementation actor-network	184
6.4 The role of the intranet in knowledge sharing	186
6.5 Conclusion: accounting for the role of the intranet in knowledge sharing	189
 CHAPTERS 7: CONCLUSIONS	 191
7.1 Introduction	191
7.2 Meeting the research aims	191
7.3 The suitability of the research design	194
7.4 Alternative methods for further insight	204

7.5	Conclusions from the research	207
7.6	Coda	207

8 REFERENCES	208
---------------------	------------

8.1	Published work	208
8.2	Internal KPMG files	220

TABLES

Table 1	Opportunities of a grounded approach to the research	36
Table 2	Drawing on theory building with case research for the work completed	37
Table 3	Significant episodes in the actor-network	52
Table 4	Comparison of Cap Gemini Netherlands and KPMG UK knowledge management implementations 2001	167
Table 5	Three episodes of the KPMG UK knowledge management implementation	168

FIGURES

Figure 1	Discussion summary from UEP minutes	47
Figure 2	News report and discussion summary from Knowledge Manager meeting	48
Figure 3	Knowledge management implementation actor-network 1995	168
Figure 4	Knowledge management implementation actor-network 1998	171
Figure 5	Knowledge management implementation actor-network 2001	175